Stonechip coating lichen damage.

Coloursteel lichen and rust damage.

Avoid re-coating or total roof replacement.

Moss, lichen and fungal growth secrete acids and enzymes which break down protective coatings.

They are both damaging and unsightly.

Untreated they can ruin your roof and cost you heavily.

Roof Wash is a cost-effective solution.

How we work

Up Front Quotation

You are provided with a written quotation and warranty statement before any work is done.

Bio-Shield® is applied in a gentle, low-pressure spray. It kills moss, mould and lichen growth very quickly. The dead growth is washed away by natural weathering starting at around 2 months and continuing over about 12 months. The final appearance will of course depend on the age and condition of the tiles or coating. While it is not toxic to pets or plants, we take care to avoid foliage and ponds.

If necessary we can apply a protective silicone seal, using Armourseal® silicone our proven specialist roof surface sealant. This is particularly useful for roofs made from porous materials.

Safety and care

Bio-Shield® is safe to use containing a combination of biodegradable surfactants for removal of moss, mould and lichen. It is safe for use on roofs that collect tank water.

Other surfaces

Bio-Shield® is also effective on driveways, fences, paths and patios. We're happy to quote.
